

PASSING THE TORCH...

Like many things in time, old is replaced by new. The familiar College Inn passes drama productions on to the new, innovative Arlene Mitchell Theatre.

PASSING ON TRADITIONS Spring Hill's traditions, like the annual Christmas on the Hill candlelight mass, are passed on from upperclassmen to freshmen.

Buildings were not the only things that passed torches. After four years at Spring Hill, seniors were ready to pass on traditions and wisdom to a new generation of Spring Hill students. James Monahan, Lauren Letchworth, and Peter Fuller were on their way to carrying a new torch. Taking with them all that they had experienced and learned at Spring Hill, they went on to serve in the Jesuit Volunteer Corps.

A Summer in Paris

Summer school took on new meaning for five students who spent a month in Europe studying French language, culture, politics, and art. The group was led by Dr. Moz and Ms. Patten. They learned as much from their everyday experiences as they did from their classes.

Mike Scheidt and Brandy Barbier became experts at navigating the Paris Metro.

After two weeks in Paris, Tracey Bates finally made it to the Eiffel Tower.

Dr. Adriano Moz taught elementary and intermediate French to Brandy Barbier, Loan Tran, Tracey Bates, and Jill Phillips.

Orientation

The theme of freshman orientation was SHOWdown on the hill. The western theme was carried out through tee shirts, Casino Night and different skits. The purpose of orientation weekend is to make the first few days at Spring Hill easier and make the transition from home to college a little smoother. Upperclassmen serve as peer counselors or for the SHOWdown, Deputies. It gives freshmen a chance to meet each other before classes begin and to meet people who have been at Spring Hill longer and can show them the ropes.

Tom Brogan and Cedric Fernandes have a real "bang up" time at Casino night.

Monique Pontiff and Amy Bascle enhance the festive mood of Casino night with their colorful costumes.

Having Mom and Dad around at Orientation makes the transition period a little easier and adds to the fun.

Peer Counselors

What does it take to be a peer counselor? First of all, a lot of patience. You have to be able to smile when things go wrong, even if you are frustrated. You have to be warm and friendly and able to welcome new people to the campus. You have to be energetic and help others to get excited about being at Spring Hill. You have to be understanding because freshmen have a lot of questions and are faced with a completely new situation. You have be a role model, because often those first impressions can direct the course of someone's time at Spring Hill. You also have to be willing to have fun, because while orientation is a lot work, it is also a lot of fun!

Andrea Hosken and Ha'le Trenor wait for their peer groups to arrive.

Moving into O'Leary Hall can be liberating but also a little scary.

Jason Allen and Chad Buckhaults get ready for a long Orientation weekend.

Peer counselors discuss the importance of the Escape activity for the freshmen.

Hall Olympics

Breaking with tradition, the first big event of the year was not Powder Puff Football. The torch was passed to a new game, one that included more people and allowed for more variety. Hall Olympics gave the Residence Halls a chance for a little friendly competition.

Derrick White puts forth his best effort in the softball toss.

Elizabeth Milton and Halle Trenor try to block Rachel Thompson's shot.

Horatio Wheelock leads his Murray Hall team to victory in a hard fought battle of tug-owar.

On your mark, get set, GO! The 1000 meter race began with a bang.

Hurricane Season

Opal is an unassuming enough name, but in October, she threatened the Gulf Coast. She was a category 4 hurricane that had its eye on Mobile for a while before turning its wrath toward Pensacola and northwest Florida. Right before October break, we were all ready for a change of pace and a change of scenery. We got our wish. Warnings of an impending hurricane sent many of us north or west to escape the storm. Unfortunately, many who fled north got the worst end of Opal. For those who stayed in Mobile, on or off campus, winds never really exceeded 40 MPH. Luckily, Mobile and Spring Hill were spared from any destruction.

J.J. Nadicksbernd and Tania Garcia try to relieve some of the boredom of being inside during the hurricane by creating a roller blading trail out of the hallways in Murray.

Everyone who remained on campus during Opal was evacuated to Murray Hall, where Marriott kept everyone's stomaches full.

Julie Prerost and Ashley Buckhaults take advantage of the mud generated by Opal's rain and dive head first into the mudslide.

Terri Reckhart, J. J. Nadicksbernd, Tania Garcia, Jenise Jacques, and Steffi Camerer breathe a sigh of relief after realizing Opal is shying away from Mobile.

Immersion Weekend

Throughout the year, campus ministry hosted many events that helped bring students closer to God and their community. Among them was Urban Immersion Weekend. Led by Paul Bambrick and Father Payne, the weekend was a time for service and reflection in downtown Mobile. Thirty students participated in Immersion weekend that lasted from November 3-5.

Father Payne and Cameron Blau share with each other during Immersion weekend.

Paul Bambrick led the Immersion weekend.

With thirty students in attendance, Immersion weekend was a real success.

The weekend was a lot of work, but also a lot of fun, so tired eyes were no surprise.

Mission Trip

Students from Spring Hill College along with adult supervisors and nurses went on a Mexico Mission trip over Spring break. The purpose of the trip was to form a sort of brotherhood with the Myan village of Kancab. Kancab is a small village that is in desperate need of help. The group from Spring Hill did many tasks such as delivering palms for roofs. Spring Hill has adopted Kancab and for many years to come students will being going on Mission trips there.

Paul Bambrick and Wendy work on greeting cards for many of the villagers who helped out.

The Avenue

Graduation is one of the most amazing days you can ever experience at Spring Hill. From either side of the pagentry—spectator or participant—the pomp will knock your socks off. The whole scene is out of a movie. The huge oaks bend over to provide just enough shade so that everyone is comfortable, even though they're all sitting outside in the summer heat. The sky is an indescribable blue with the most beautiful painted on white whispy clouds you can imagine. The speakers are eloquent and poised. The graduates sit and listen with quiet reverence. It's the kind of thing you only get to see once in a lifetime, unless you're lucky and can come back next year for a brother, sister, or friend's walk down the avenue.

Monique Pontiff embraces her friend and roommate Heather Gabler in celebration of their completion of four years of work and fun.

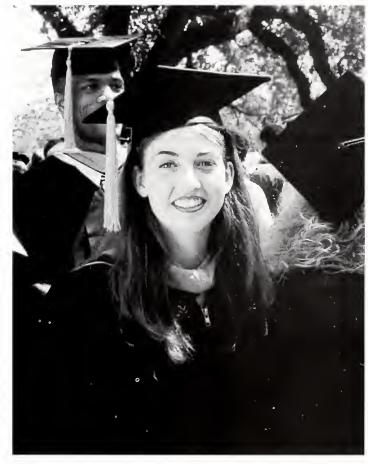

Lauren Letchworth smiles and breathes a sigh of relief as she proudly displays her degree.

Graduation Days

Mike Kaiser, Scott Couvillon, Ryan Smith, and Mike Behan stop for a moment in all the pagentry to relax and enjoy each other's company.

Opposite Page: Andrea Hosken proudly displays the degree she went to a lot of trouble to get.

On to the Avenue! After four years of waiting for this day, there was no turning back for the class of 1996.

Obviously the Jesuits have meant a great deal to the experience we have had at Spring Hill, but they are only the beginning to what we have witnessed in the past few years. As with any dynamic institution, Spring Hull has been forced to change to keep up with student demands. During our brief, or for some of us. not so brief stay at 4000 Dauphin we have seen many things come and go. We have said goodbye to many great professors, such as Father Lambert and Dr. Curry. However, we have also welcomed wonderful new professors, such as Dr. Dean and Dr. Haines. We have witnessed the beginning of the nursing program as well as Life Long Learning's OMC program but we have also witnessed the end to the sociology program. Mobile Hall, Yenni Hall, and the cafeteria were all renovated while we were here. However, not only did we witness these renovation, but we also witnessed the devastation caused by the two fires. The new theater add so much to this years drama production, however, it was sad to say goodbye to the classic College Inn. The basketball coach became the Dean of Students and the Director of Admissions became head of Fi-Aid. nancial Oh yes—and who could ever forget the parking lots before they were paved. Certainly not the Freshman class of 1992 that had to move in during the rain storm. For those of you who did forget, just try to remember where that red clay came from on your carpet, it certainly wasn't from the blacktop. Seriously, though, change is natural and change has done our campus a world of good. Just look around on a sunny day and you'll realize that Spring Hill is one of the most beautiful places to be. With the azaleas in full bloom and the oaks lined with leaves, this school has never looked better. We have seen many of these changes as we have grown with Spring Hill. However, our class cannot help but to be a little bitter about what Spring Hill's future holds. With the new theater, the recreation center and the fairway apartments nearing completion, we feel that we will be missing out on some great assets of the college. On the other hand, these new facilities will certainly provide a great excuse for us to come back and visit in the next few years. It would be impossible to try to mention all of the changes we have seen, as our campus has grown in so many ways. I think we are extremely fortunate to have had the opportunity to see the transformation from parts of the classic Spring Hill to parts of the new Spring Hill. These changes will certainly add to the college as they become the basis for the new traditions that are to be mad once we are gone.

Regardless of the changes in Spring Hill's physical appearance, there is a certain degree of comfort in knowing that parts of our school will never change. No matter how many renovations, devastations and improvements Spring Hill witnesses, there will always be the familiar faces that remind us of how it used to be. I think we can pretty much always count of Kathy and Wanda in the bookstore, Juanita in the cafeteria, Leola in the mailroom, Reggie in the Cloister, well you get the picture. Yes, there is a great deal of comfort in knowing there is a family here at least there was for me when I first arrived four years ago. These people and the atmosphere they promote have mad Spring Hill the unique and wonderful place that we have been able to share in over the past few years. However, as we leave this instituiton and its many familiar faces behind, there will always be part of Spring Hill that comes along for the ride. We cannot forget what it is that is the essence of our Jesuit education—As we so successfully became people for each other while at Spring Hill—we now must become people for others in our future endeavors. Father Rimes put it beautifully last Sunday at the 10:00 mass when he simply said, "Do for others."-If we can take this from Spring Hill and into our lives—we will have succeeded in accomplishing what the College was established to promote.

I think we have all learned a little from our Jesuit leaders and from this place that we have called home for the past few years—and for that we are extremely appreciative. However, I have to say that I owe more than simply what my professors and this instituiton has taught me over the past four years. I literally owe my life to Spring Hill and a Jesuit named Father Lynette. You see, Father Lynette was a friend of my grandparents and in 1960 he had introduced them to this wonderful small college in Mobile, Alabama—thank God he did because later that year my Mom enrolled at Spring Hill and eventually met Dad-well-I think you all can figure out the rest. But, obviously Spring Hill has touched the lives of everyone in my family just as it has touched the lives of everyone in the class of 1996. Today, as we say goodbye, I would like to honor the college and all it has contributed to our lives. I would also like to thank you all—you have been the greatest classmates and friends I could have ever asked for-Good Luck in whatever you decide to do—I will certainly miss you all—Take care and God Bless!

Baseball

the Spring Hill baseball team posts a very appressive season. Their second place finds in the conference tournament and their verall record earned them an at-large bid the NAIA Southwest Regional Tournment. The Badgers departed to Houston, there they upset the number one team in a nation, Dallas Baptist. The men went in to beat William Carey. McKinion and alipert both beat the school record for hits a season, 70. McKinion, however, took wer with 78 and Hilpert with 76.

Tribute to the Coaches

Spring Hill College is very lucky to have the wonderful coach es that bring our teams to victory. A coach can where man different hats to team members. A coach can take over th roles of friend, teacher, counselor, and possibly parent figure. This is a tribute to all of the coaches here at Spring Hill. From all the athletes you've touched, thank you!

Frank Sims and Joe Stutz, take a breather between games at the Pit.

Assistant Cross Country Coach Lisa Weinard poses with the Badger.

James Walker and Terry Fowler discuss their game plan while Ben Dagget gets focused for the men's game.

Brooks Green takes time to enjoy the sun, while encouraging the tennis teams.

Richard Tonry getting set to hit away, with his team backing him up, in softball.

INTRAMURALS

Intramurals provides the opportunity for everyone to get their bodies as well as their minds in shape. There is a little bit of something for everybody, including faculty and staff.

The 1996 Softball Champs: Standing: Brian McGranahan, Richard Tonry, John Sperling, Mark Angerdina, Billy McGruder, Ken Bartosh Kneeling: John Rouse, Jennnifer Scalici, Meg Ekins, Lesa Paille, Randy Moudry, (not pictured) Halle Trenor.

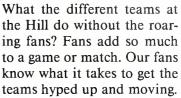

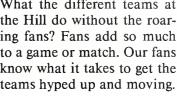

The Spring Hill College Cheerleaders provide cheers and dances to keep everyone into the game.

The crowd of fans go wild during one of the exciting basketball games.

FANS

The fans that represent who we are, Mr. and Mrs. Badger.

Above: Spring Hill's loyal fan, Alfred, even goes out to the Cross Country meets to encourage the girls.

Students take part in one of Spring Hill's most unique traditions, sitting on The Wall at The Pit.

Volume 72 of the Torch was printed by Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas. All 144 pages of the 1996 Torch were created on the staff IBM computer with TotalVision, Taylor's layout, text, and index program. Mr. Ben Allen served as sales representative. 844 copies of the seventy-second volume were printed and delivered in the fall.
